

MISTAKE AT WORK- ENEMY OR TEACHER

Mistake requires that we retract our steps, repair damage and reassess our views. In many instances, mistakes can be our best teacher because they demand that we learn vital lessons about ourselves.

When we treat mistakes as enemies rather than teacher, we inevitably end up behaving like doctors. Rather than accepting responsibility, we distance ourselves from problems and difficulties. Rather than facing facts with accountability and precision, we blame or make excuses.

Being honest about mistakes at work require fact, humility and skill. When we permit mistakes to teach us, we discuss problems discreetly and listen to others point of view. This requires us to open ourselves fully to the discomfort and detail rather than rush past our circumstances, papering over the failures to regain a false sense of misery.

We can bravely learn from our failures without blaming others. Such courage is both demanding and refreshing. Since we are willing to be truthful, precise and accountable, we are not 'honest, there is no struggle.

Find out the reason to dealing with our mistakes, so that they become our best teacher rather than enemies.

If you don't make mistakes, you don't make anything.

SELF CONFIDENCE

Many issues are responsible for the lack of self confidence. They have to be identified before any improvement can be made. Some of the factors which cause lack of self-confidence are:-

- Fear - Self Belief - Personality - Attitude - Communication Skills - Education - Low Self Esteem.
- These are just some of the problems, but obviously there are others which you need to confront. This help can be extremely beneficial when properly used and can greatly increase your prospects in employment in addition to improving the quality of your life.

If your home life is suffering through your insecurity, do a reality check, analyse what you think are your short comings, and can you improve it. YES YOU CAN. Get help, talk to your friends, relatives, and partners, and ask for their opinion. There is no shame in asking acquaintances, friends and relatives for advice.

Socialising can sometimes be difficult for people with little confidence, particularly if you tend to be shy. One of the best ways of building confidence is when in a social situation, to listen to what people are saying. Obviously not all current events, but ones which interest you. That way you will always be able to make a contribution to a discussion or small talk at a social function. If you follow the tips in this article you will go a long way to improving your self confidence.

STUDENTS: THE FUTURE OF INDIA

Children are the future of India and parents shower their love on them. Parents love to build the prospect of their child in their right direction.

Institutes take the most responsibility in guiding the students to develop themselves in a right manner. In order to achieve the growth of the child the parents and the management has to focus on the safety, care, developing the child with right norms and develop them as the best citizens for the country.

Students play an important role in the development of India. As we know that today's children are tomorrow's future. So if children would be good students they would give India a bright future. Good students lead to not only a good India but also a good world.

Indian students are facing a lot of problem in getting jobs after completing their education. The competitive exams are creating huge pressure on students, depriving them of will and healthy learning. Many students are committing suicides due to failures or inability to get seats in good colleges.

If students know their responsibilities, the college and country will progress. If students take wrong path they spoil their life and also their parents also, so think that you are the future of India.

AWARENESS ACCRUES ABILITY

Awareness is the state or ability to perceive, to feel, or to be conscious of events, objects, sensations, patterns. In this level of consciousness, sense data can be confirmed by an observer without necessarily implying understanding. More broadly, it is the state or quality of being aware of something. In biological psychology, awareness is defined as a human or animal's perception reaction to a condition or event. Awareness is a relative concept.

An animal may be partially aware, may be subconsciously aware, or may be actually unaware of an event. Awareness may be focused on an internal state, such as a visceral feeling, or on external events by way of sensory perception. Awareness provides the raw material from which animals develop cognitive, or subjective ideas about their experience. The ability to consciously detect an image when presented in near-threshold stimulus varies across presentations.

One factor is "baseline shifts" due to top down attention that modulates ongoing brain activity in sensory cortex areas that affects the neural processing of subsequent perceptual judgments. Such top down biasing can occur through two distinct processes: an attention driven baseline shift in the alpha waves, and a decision bias reflected in gamma waves. Awareness forms a basic concept of the theory and practice of Gestalt therapy. In general, "awareness" may also refer to public or common knowledge or understanding about a social, scientific, or political issue, and hence many movements try to foster "awareness" of a given subject, that is, "awareness" General awareness is a very broad term. It is not merely the basic functioning of things around us, but also includes information regarding occurrence of events or incidents that hold significant value. However, we should pay focus on the general knowledge in order to stay updated with every field around us. All the current affairs that take place, settle down in the form of general knowledge, which proves to be very beneficial for us. It not only helps us on our day to day lives but also become a way to score well in entrance exams. We all are aware of the increase in the number of general knowledge questions in the entrance exams, these days. It has become a part of the syllabus, rather an integral part. Similarly, the interview sessions that follow these exams also consist of general knowledge questions.

Nobel Prizes

Editorial

The Nobel Prize, Swedish definite form, singular: Nobel prizes ; Norwegian : Nobel prizes) is a set of annual international awards bestowed in a number of categories by Scandinavian committees in recognition of cultural and/or scientific advances. The Swedish philanthropist inventor Alfred Nobel established the prizes in 1895. The prizes in Physics, Chemistry, Physiology or Medicine, Literature, and Peace were first awarded in 1901.

The Nobel Prize is widely regarded as the most prestigious award available in the fields of literature, medicine, physics, chemistry, peace, and economics.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences awards the Nobel Prize in Physics, the Nobel Prize in Chemistry, and the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences; the Nobel Assembly at Karolinska Institute awards the Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine; the Swedish Academy grants the Nobel Prize in Literature; and the Nobel Peace Prize is not awarded by a Swedish organisation but by the Norwegian Nobel Committee.

Each recipient, or laureate, receives a gold medal, a diploma, and a sum of money which is decided by Nobel Foundation yearly. As of 2012, each prize was worth 8 million SEK (c. US$1.2 million, €0.93 million). The prize is not awarded posthumously; however, if a person is awarded a prize and dies before receiving it, the prize may still be presented. Though the average number of laureates per prize increased substantially during the 20th century, a prize may not be shared among more than three people.

The award process is similar for all of the Nobel Prizes; the main difference is in who can make nominations for each of them.

SMILING MAKES YOU FEEL GOOD

Smiling makes you feel good! Have you ever noticed that you feel better when you smile even if you were feeling sad before? Smiling is something that can lift your mood in almost any situation. It can help you see things in a more positive light.

Here are 3 ways smiling can improve your day:

1. Smile at yourself! Try looking in the mirror and smiling at yourself. By doing this and thinking something positive about yourself, you can improve your self-confidence.

"Every time you smile at someone, it is an action of love, a gift to that person, a beautiful thing."

2. Smile to brighten someone else's day! Try smiling at someone who looks like they need a positive boost today. One genuine smile can make a difference in someone's day.

3. Smile throughout the day! Is there any harm in smiling throughout the day? Yes, in serious situations a smile may not be appropriate. However, you may be surprised at how often a smile is not only appropriate but could help you enjoy your day and life more. Try smiling as much as possible throughout the day. It could be your goal to see how often during the day you can smile.

The world could be a brighter place if we could all smile ourselves and smile at each other more. You may notice at first that it feels strange to smile a lot, or your facial muscles may become tired. This is a sign that smiling is something you may not have been doing often.

The next time you are feeling stressed out, nervous, down, or just needing a lift, try smiling and thinking of something positive. A smile can brighten your day and someone else's, too.

They let us be ourselves. They satisfy our emotional needs. Life is incomplete without a bunch of good friends you can talk to, fight with, eat around with and what not. Most importantly they always lend you a listening ear and a shoulder to cry on in difficult times. I guess half of our problems are solved because there's a species called 'FRIENDS'. Friendships are built on trust. Many a confidence is shared between friends, and once that confidence has been violated, then expect the friendship to be broken. Again, beyond repair. It is difficult, and at times impossible to restore a friendship. But if you on trying to get along and fix things it may turn out to be a better situation from the existing bitter, awkward situation. But, most of the time, it will never be the same.

SURROUND YOURSELF WITH POSITIVE AND SUPPORTIVE FRIENDS. You will never be enough for those friends and you'll waste way too much time trying. Instead, choose friends who make you feel happy, confident, and appreciated. Just be yourself. Those people in your life that adore you think you are amazing. Believe them!

A friend in need is a friend indeed. Lend your money and lose your friend.

FRIENDS CAN MAKE OR BREAK YOU

Choose your friends wisely. The company you keep sends an important message to your kids and your community. Time is your most valuable resource, don't squander it on people who don't support you, your commitment to your family, or who monopolize your time with negativity, zapping your energy. Respectfully move on from relationships that drain you or negatively affect your family. Surround yourself with goodness. You only go around once!

NEW BEGINNING

It's only the beginning now, a pathway yet unknown. At times the sound of others steps. Sometimes we talk alone. The beginning of our lives, May sometimes and in sorrow. But even on our darkest days, The sun will shine tomorrow. So we should do our very best. Whatever life may bring. And look beyond the winter chill, As fresh as morning dawn. Although the cares of life are great, And hands are bowed so low. The storms of life will leave behind, The wonder of rainbow. The years will never take away, Our chance to start a new. It's only the beginning now, So dream can still come true.

EDUCATION

Education is a term which is more easily understood than defined. It has been derived from the Latin word "educatum" which means the act of teaching or training. According to some, it has also come from another Latin term "educare" which means "to bring up", "to raise". Some also believe that it has been originated from the Latin word "educere" which means "to lead forth" or "to come out". Thus education is regarded as "a process of drawing out from within". That is why, Gandhiji meant "By education I mean an all-round drawing out of the best in child and man, body, mind and spirit".

Education is thus a process of self-expression. An individual expresses himself through education. These innate powers and potentialities are developed and drawn out through education. It is a means of adjustment of an individual with the society. It is a process by which he is brought into proper relationship with the ideas and ideas, customs and traditions of the society.

The child is weak, helpless and ignorant at birth. But he gradually grows and develops. He acquires knowledge and skills. He realizes thoughts into actions and satisfies his needs. He changes his behavior according to his environment. Such changes, growth and development of the individual are his education. This is the result of his learning and maturation.

Learning is living. Learning is the modification of behavior. Thus education is the process by which the knowledge, character and behavior of an individual are formed and modified. One's conduct and behavior are changed and refined according to the desired standard of the society. This is the result of education.

Education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave.
